CITY COUNCIL HAS BUSY SESSION TUESDAY NIGHT

Committee Instructed to Consider Grade Scale in Electric Light Rate. Nuisance to be Abated at Scavenger Grounds. Water Meters Shipped. Road to be Opened on East Side. Poundkeeper Appointed.

The regular meeting of the city council was held on Tuesday evening with all members in attendance excepting Ald. Evans and Pendleton. After the adoption of the minutes of the previous meeting the council considered an appeal of P. Patenaude against the assessment of his team. It was agreed that the assessment must stand.

The resignation of Carl Johnson as scavenger was accepted.

A letter was read from the Canadian Oil Well Drilling Co. re the probable purchase of the well drilling outfit. The letter was filed.

The committee was instructed to have the drilling rig put into operation. The matter of the fire prevention was then considered when it was decided to leave the matter with the committee and the fire chief to take whatever steps they deemed advisable to have the work observed.

A letter from a firm in Montreal advising council that the water meters had been shipped, was read and filed. The matter is costing over $1400.

A building permit was granted S. H. Reist for building a house on the corner of Powell & Co's corner.

P. C. Kyrt and C. J. Swanson addressed the council on behalf of a woman living on the east side of the track who was in need of assistance. The matter was referred to the committee with power to act.

J. P. Kitchner addressed the council re the assessment on his car, claiming that it was not equitable with other cars in the city. He was informed that the date of apportionment, and council could do nothing in the matter.

Curt Smith addressed the council regarding the electric light rate. With another proposition to use a large quantity of current daily by a concern which contemplates locating here, was referred to the committee to investigate and report.

The police, market and license committee recommended that the bylaw regarding live stock dealers be amended; that J. W. Gibson be appointed scavenger and poundkeeper; that J. Cowan be assistant fireman at the hospital; and that fire hall be heated with stores this winter and that the water be turned off the upstairs of the fire hall also that the fireman be paid for the months of June, July and August. All of which was adopted.

The finance committee's report on several matters was adopted.

The report of the chief of police for the month of August was received and adopted.

Considerable discussion took place respecting the condition of the nuisance ground, and it was left with the police committee and the chief of police to have any minor changes made.

The semi-monthly payroll, and a few other accounts were passed for payment.

The committee reported that the road on the east side of the tracks was open.

WEDDINGS

ERICKSON — MacDONALD

A quiet but very pretty wedding took place in the city on Wednesday afternoon of last week at the apartments of R. L. Alexander, by the Rev. Mr. Walter Henry Erickson, when Mr. Walter Henry Erickson, of Maslinan, Alberta, and Miss Alice Macdonald, of Daysland, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. L. Alexander. It was a very quiet affair, the witnesses being Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Wallin. After the ceremony, the happy couple spent a few hours in the city before departing for their new home in Maslinan, where the groom is engaged in farming. We join in extending congratulations.

Constantinople Now

Is City of Red Flags

Constantinople, Sept. 25.—This city is in full cry of exaltation over the announcement that the allies were prepared to return Thrace to Turkey. The Turkish newspapers last night published special editions with the most sensational news, some of them printing photographs of the ancient capital of Adrianople, which is quite as sacred to the Turks as Constantinople. Other papers published full page photographs of Kemal with a halo around his head as well as glowing tributes to the achievements of the Turkish army.

The city is a riot of red flags, the street vendors have sold by the thousands. In the evening, prayers from the Minarets and thanks were rendered to Allah that Thrace had been restored. The Greeks, while distressed and disappointed over the loss of territory which had cost them so dearly, were in larger measure frankly rejoiced at the prospect of peace, the more so because among them, however, declared the nation would fight to the last to retain Thrace.

LIQUOR CARGO FOR NAT BELL UNDER SEIZURE

Portland, N.D., Sept. 24.—Six car loads of bonded whiskey, each car containing 1000 cases, in custody of the U.S. marshal at Grand Forks, N.D., were seized by federal prohibition agents tomorrow morning the agent said tonight. The liquor is estimated to be worth more than a quarter of a million dollars. They are awaiting orders from the prohibition department at Washington, as to disposition of the liquor.

One of the officers said there were three alternatives: One, destruction of the liquor; two, return of the shipment to the Hill and Hill distillers at Owensboro, Ky.; the shipment; three, release of the liquor for "underlying" and shipment to its original destination, the Nat Bell Wine Company, at Vancouver, B.C.

There was talk here tonight that the shipment offered a regular "bonanza" for high jackers, as the guard at the railroad yards would be entirely unable to deal with a band of "boozie ruffians" who have no "fear to the ground" when liquor is being shipped.

Sengalese Boxer Jarred

Georges Carpentier Loose—From His Title on Sunday

Paris, Sept. 25.—Georges Carpentier the heavyweight champion boxer of Europe, was defeated yesterday by Battling Siki, the Sengalese fighter, in the sixth round of what was to have been a twenty round bout.

Carpentier never had a chance after the third round. He was barely able to respond to the bell at the beginning of the sixth. With his right eye completely closed and his nose broken he was unable to put up a guard.

In the sixth the negro fighter planted a series of terrific rights to Carpentier's head and the French giant crumpled to the floor. One of his legs caught between the legs of the Sengalese while he was falling. One minute and ten seconds of the round had elapsed.

HER HEART WAS SO BAD

Those feelings of faintness, those dizzy spells, and the all-gone sinking sensation which come on from time to time indicate a weakened condition of the heart and a disordered state of the nerves.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have no equal as a remedy to strengthen the heart, invigorate the nerves, and build up the run-down system.

Mrs. C. Vanborn, Eckville, Alta., writes: "About a year ago I had heart trouble. My husband didn't dare leave me alone, and often had to stay up at night with me. I would just feel kind of faint, and my heart would seem to stop beating. I would just faint away, and it would sometimes be an hour or so before they could bring me back to life. Someone told me about Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, so I got three boxes. I took them and felt much better, so continued all winter, and now I never feel any such faintness, and I sure do appreciate the good your Pills
have done for me."

GEOGRAPHY OF THE WILDS

Fifty-five thousand miles on foot, by canoe, and on horseback, over an expanse of prairie, forest, lake and river, half on big St. Barre, made up the remarkable travel record of David Thompson, whose memorial was recently opened at Lake Windermere, and, in the recent assertion of J. B. Tyrrell, F.R.S.C., that he was "the greatest land geographer who ever lived." Mr. Tyrrell, himself an explorer of "dominion wide repute,"
has written an appreciation of Thompson in the "Toronto Saturday Night,"
from which the following paragraphs
are taken:

With extraordinary accuracy he placed on the map the routes of annual travel in 1,200,000 square miles of Canada and 500,000 square miles of the United States; he surveyed the "lead waters" of the Mississippi;
he discovered a new route to Lake Athabasca; he opened the first trade between what is now Canada and the territory beyond the Great Divide; he fixed the locations of outstanding geographical points on the continent
with the accuracy of an experienced astronomer; with the stars when he was wintering at Cumberland
House on the Saskatchewan river.

So far as I know, he is the only man who has ever surveyed the Columbia from source to mouth 1500 miles. His locations are as accurate as others which have been made with modern instruments and the most recent advances that government departments can buy. The record of his work is contained in forty notebooks, which have long been in the possession of the Ontario government.
His story, for a searching labor, conscientious devotion, to science, and for the unconscious evidence they give of a noble character, so far as a somewhat extensive research enables one to judge, is not equalled by anything that has been left by all the explorers whose names are honored wherever our language is read.

I have called Thompson one of the greatest of scientists. His work is open for inspection. It is the more remarkable because, not only was a great deal of it performed literally thousands of miles from the nearest civilization, but because, except for one year, it was a sideline to his activity as a trader, first for the Hudson's Bay Company and then for the Northwest Company, which afterwards was united with it. He travelled at most incessantly during spring, summer and fall—often most hazardous travel, such as is told in the Journal of his opening of a new route to Lake Athabasca, during which he almost drowned, and was within a few hours
of death by starvation.

Frequently the Thompson parties
were in the midst of hostile Indians.
Indeed, to get his fur out of the mountains after he and his people were threatened with extermination,
he was compelled to use an undesirable route. In 1807 he came to Kootenay country, Idaho and Washington by way of the Saskatchewan and House pass. In 1811 he had to abandon the Saskatchewan route and set out by way of Lake Athabasca, at the cost of a journey which, for perils and escapes, surpasses anything invented by the most romantic writers. The detail was about 400 miles longer. I must go by the Great Trunk Pacific instead of by the C.P.
R., with the difference that the fur had to be taken 400 miles down the Athabasca to Lac la Pêche, 100 miles north of Edmonton, and thence down
the Churchill river to Cumberland House.

After all, how could the surveys
made by a fur trader, and their record on paper, marred with the degrees of latitude and longitude, be among the greatest contributions to human knowledge? Geography is one of the primary sciences. It is the penetrable the most elementary progress in many sciences. It is only through geography that we know where you are, and when you want to go somewhere you can only tell how to get there through geography—
the science of the earth's surface and the relation of one part to another, with all the inhabitants thereof. Without the aid of geography you could neither build a railway or carry on a war.

Christopher Columbus was a geographer. Sir John Franklin was a geographer. The frontiersmen who explored this continent—Champlain,
La Salle, La Verendrye, Franklin, Le Kontze, Fraser—the men who found a way for steel through these mountains and through the forests, but, though these geographers, they, though these geographers, Franklin, told us much they left their information in no such useful shape as Thompson put the fruit of his persistent journeying. What Thompson had been of inestimable practical value to this continent and to the world.

The Canadian people, in their great business of transforming barbarian wilderness into prosperous commu-

I am not much of a mathematician but I can add to your troubles.
I can subtract from your earnings.
I can multiply your aches and pains.
I can divide your attention.
I can take interest from your work.
I can discount your chances for safety.

180 Avenue Pine IX, Montreal.
"For thirty years, I was a terrible sufferer from dyspepsia and my general health was very bad. I consulted a physician and took his medicine but it did not improve and finally he told me that I could not be cured.
At this time, a friend advised me to try 'Fruit-a-lives'. After taking two boxes, I was greatly relieved, and this fruit medicine made me completely well. My digestion and general health

Canada's Surplus Stocker
Cattle Will Go to Britain
If the Embargo is Removed

Calgary, Sept. 24.—Great Britain
will import most of Canada's surplus cattle, to the extent of 100,000 head, annually, when the Canadian cattle embargo is finally removed. This statement was made Sunday night by Phillip D.
Chapman, president of the Canadian Livestock Traders' association of Great Britain, upon his arrival in Calgary with S. E. Everett, his business associate.

Mr. Chapman and Mr. Everett are in western Canada for the purpose of investigating cattle conditions here,
and to make arrangements with Canadian cattle men for trade between Canada and Great Britain. They are the first English cattle traders to arrive here on this mission.

"While the removal of the cattle embargo has been approved by the house of commons, it will be some time yet before it goes through the several processes necessary for the actual removal," said Mr. Campbell.
However, we are confident that it will be removed that we have come to western Canada, where it is our intention to investigate actual conditions and to obtain an understanding with the cattle exporters regarding future trade possibilities.

Ottawa, Sept. 24.—Owing to the extreme shortage of cattle supplies in the United States, the trade is largely of the opinion that the immediate result of the duty will be the stimulation of prices on lambs on American markets. "The statement is made by the Canadian exporters to British lands to the United States, on the basis of the present prices obtained in the British market. This statement is made by the Dominion livestock branch of the department of agriculture on the effect of the U.S. tariff on the lamb market.
The announcement sets forth that a revised duty schedule carries a revised duty on lambs and sheep amounting to $2 a head, and on dressed lambs and mutton of four cents a pound on the former and two and a half cents on the latter.

"The movement of lambs across the border was fairly heavy up to the date of the application of the revised duty,
and many districts are practically sold out," says the statement. "An analysis of the available supply would indicate that there are barely enough lambs on hand to meet the demand of the Canadian consumers, provided the marketings from now on are properly regulated and are not dumped into the market. The rather heavy tariff schedule is likely to have an immediate depressing effect on the general marketing situation, and farmers are strongly advised to market their lambs at the present time. Regardless of the tariff, it should be remembered that the market is always very susceptible to excess of supply during the latter part of September, and market statistics prove conclusively that unless caution is exercised during the period
a decided break in prices will occur."

GREENFIELD READY TO COOPERATE IN COLONIZATION PLAN

Edmonton, Sept. 23.—Preston Greenfield, when asked as to the likely attitude of the government of Canada towards the immigration scheme proposed by the Canada Colonization association, said the government would be ready and willing to cooperate with this and any other hand settling agency that undertook to bring in settlers of the right type and in the right way.

L. C. Charlesworth, chairman of the irrigation council, has gone south
to meet Sir John Wilson and party at Lethbridge, and will take up with the Canada Colonization officials the question of bringing in new settlers
for the irrigated lands in the Lethbridge Northern district. Exclusive rights of the land have been secured by the owners to the irrigation council, but it is understood the latter will be willing to sell through the colonization association wherever possible.

A new machine, invented by the United States department of agriculture, has been perfected and when it is placed on the market will be used to attach to threshing machines for the purpose of extracting weed seeds from grain. It is thought that it will be of great value in western Canada.

PUT IN HIS CLASS WITH UTMOST EASE

It was the Judgment Day, and the throngs of people were crowding all around the pearly gates trying to convince St. Peter that they were entitled not enter Heaven.

To the first applicant St. Peter said:
"What kind of a car do you own?"
"A Packard," was the reply.

"All right," said St. Peter. "You go over there with the Presbyterians."
The next in line testified that he owned a McLaughlin, and was told to stand over with the Congregationalists.

Behind him was the owner of a Dodge, who was ordered to stand with the Baptists.

Finally a meek little individual came along.

"What kind of a car do you own?"
was the question.

"A Ford" was the answer.
"All right," said St. Peter. "You go
over there with the Christian Scientists."

HOLDERS OF VICTORIES
APPLY FOR NEW BONDS

Heavy shipments of 1923 Victory bonds are being daily received by the finance department at Ottawa, for conversion into new bonds bearing interest at five and a half per cent, and running for a further period of five or ten years as desired. Many holders have expressed a wish to take up considerably more of the new bonds than they have of the maturing loan, but this is not permitted as cash subscriptions are not being invited at the present time. It is pointed out at the finance department such persons may add to their holdings of 1923 bonds by purchasing them from holders who require the cash. "The bonds to purchase" may then be intercepted for the new bonds.

Care of Health on Trains

THE care of the public health on trains is a matter which occupies a great deal of the attention of railroads. The average passenger on an up-to-date train, while enjoying the luxury it affords, is not fully aware of the pains that are taken to provide for his comfort. The Canadian Pacific Railway has its health regulations for the welfare of its patrons. These regulations are enforced by eminent doctors, chemists and sanitary engineers in collaboration. The regulations are strictly enforced, all over the system. The result of these efforts is that the sleeping, dining, parlor and other cars are as healthy as a comfortable and sanitary home.

In order to give the most hygienic service, the Canadian Pacific wherever possible, has food put up in individual containers. Cereals are in small packets, one of which is used by an individual at a time. Jams are in small jars. Shelf systems are always used for all purposes, so it is difficult to keep food anywhere fresh for long. Canned goods are never used on the Canadian Pacific. Every employee on the trains must be in good health. Doctors are engaged by the railway to see to this. At all lay-over points and large terminals, large hospitals are conducted for the benefit of travellers. These hospitals are equipped with shower and bath, sleeping quarters, reading and writing rooms.

trips each year, it is only natural that some are not in perfect health. But frequent disinfection of cars with a special fumigation of formaldehyde kills all bacteria, and makes trains more healthy than any other place where any large number of persons congregate.

The greatest care is taken that sweeping, mopping, dusting, brushing, ventilation, heating, lighting, watering are done in the most thorough and sanitary fashion.

The average person spends about one-third of his life in bed, so it is especially desirable that railway sleeping quarters should be sanitary and comfortable.

On the Canadian Pacific after a long trip over dusty roads, mattresses must be taken out of cars and vacuumed and aired; upper berths dusted and washed out; lower berths seats, upholstery and carpets removed, vacuumed and cleaned; floors washed and scrubbed; walls and woodwork washed and polished; washbasins and metal work have to be polished until they shine like mirrors.

The Canadian Pacific Railway is the only company operating a sleeping car service which uses the "triple sheet system" of making beds. This is one of the greatest improvements from a hygienic standpoint yet adopted. It is of course necessary to use an under sheet, and an over sheet on top, but the third sheet which is placed over the blanket, prevents the blanket from coming in touch with the passenger, and is something extra. This adds one-third to the cost of laundry work on sheets, but the Company feels fully justified in paying the additional sum for the sake of its hygienic advantages.

various labor and other interests that have laid the matter before the government and asked for action in that direction.

Millet School Fair and Sports

The Millet school fair and sports under control of Inspector Nelson and the Alberta department of agriculture were held on September 22nd and 23rd. A very successful day was had. The school room work was placed on exhibit in Pyle's hall, and the live stock and vegetables on the exhibition grounds. The exhibits were of a very high class, and reflected great credit on both teachers and pupils participating. This is the fourth school fair held in our town, and it has established a very high precedent. The attendance of both the parents and children was evidence of the interest taken in this class of work. Special thanks are due to the school districts, the Women's Institute and the private individuals who contributed the prize list, as well as to the judges, who so kindly gave their time in making the awards.

The following is a list of the winners, the first named in each class being the winner of the first prize, the next winner of the second prize, and so on, respectively.

MILLET

The Millet W.I. held their September meeting at the home of Mrs. Roop. It was very encouraging to have so many visitors present. The ladies decided to have at each meeting a demonstration of the process of cooking foods or dishes peculiar to the various countries represented. Also to have some helpful hint or recipe in answer to roll call. A rummage sale was planned to be held in Millet on October 14th. At the close of the meeting the hostess assisted by Mesdames Phillips, Phynon and C. Wagner served a most tasty lunch.

Everybody got busy and search aid and color for articles not actually needed and bring them to Millet on October 14th, to the Rest Room lot, where an auction sale will be held. Nothing too large or nothing too small. All will go to build a better rest room. Let every district and every person do their share.

Millet's first annual school fair went over the top and was a great success. The exhibits were exceptionally fine and the parents are to be congratulated on the interest they took in the fair.

A. H. Parker is busy shopping cars of cattle to Edmonton.

The Mutual Oil and Development Co. will hold their annual shareholders meeting at Millet on October 12th, and a large turnout is expected.

The Rally Day services held last Sunday at Larch Tree were very well attended and much enjoyed by all those who were present. Special decorations were brought for the occasion.

The service at Hillside was especially made impressive by the beautiful display of lilies, flowers in great profusion and an abundance of vegetables. The primary class sang "Father, We Thank Thee," very nicely. The offerings were quite generous at all points.

The congregation at Larch Tree are preparing for their annual harvest home services and supper on October 27. A special program is being prepared. This is to be the best time ever held here. Keep this date open and watch for further particulars.

The services on Sunday, October 1, will be held at Porto Bella, 11.30 a.m. in the close of which service, in which the children will take part, dinner for the congregation is being provided. West Liberty service at 3.30 p.m. Millet service at 7.30 p.m. A reception of new members will be held. The quarterly communion service will be held the following Sunday, October 8.

W.C.C.A. Meets Government

Officials of the Canadian Colonization association including Sir John Willison, president, M. A. Brown, vice president, H. H. Everett, secretary, and Directors G. Macdonald and F. D. L. Smith, together with a delegation from the Board of Trade, waited on Premier Greenfield and the members of the Alberta government on Wednesday afternoon last week, and presented the history and proposed operation of the colonization scheme as had been evolved by their organization. They asked for the approval and cooperation of the government to:

1. Assist in selecting districts for settlement.
2. Elected expert agricultural advice to settlers, especially during the initial period of their tenure.
3. Aid settlers by scientific soil surveys, thus determining adaptability of particular lands to various crops.

4. Utilize their agents general in Great Britain in helping to select the right kind of settlers for the various provinces.

5. Furnish the Canadian Colonization association with literature showing the special agricultural attractions of respective provinces.

Premier Greenfield replied as follows: "We have no agents-general in Great Britain, consequently cannot give any assistance in that direction, but so far as concerns the other assistance which you ask for, it is already available for all settlers and organizations, but I am not prepared to express an opinion on your general scheme until the government has had an opportunity to thoroughly acquaint themselves on the subject, and made a thorough study of the whole question."

Business Recovery

Business barometers are all pointing to better times. The big coal strikes are settled. The railway strikes are nearing adjustment. The recovery is more noticeable on this side of the Atlantic than overseas. For food products the dollar is going much further than a year ago. On the prairies this year fruit is cheaper than for some years, and this is a great thing in prairie homes. For some time past fruit has been a high priced luxury looking into a slim pocket-book. This year the fruit prices and the ordinary pocket-book are getting closer together. Transatlantic poverty has been responsible to a large extent for the depression in grain prices. Tumors of war in the near east have sent the price of wheat up a few cents. We do not want war, but on the prairies we do not want higher prices for our grain products. Western people are homely enough in their way of thinking these days, to find it hard to correlate the past year's prices on hides and wool with this fall's prices on hogs and clothing. The large amount of house building in Edmonton this year is an indication of a return to better times. Store home building this year than for the past several years. For the first time in years the Canadian dollar last week was worth over par on the United States exchange. The good crop in Southern Alberta is again demonstrating the fine recuperative qualities of the sunny south. Perhaps the best indications we have before us in Alberta that real business is again opening is in the decision of the National railways to start work in Edmonton on their large western car shops; and the Imperial Oil Company to erect a large oil refinery plant at Calgary. These things have a real meaning.

Important Industrial Announcements

Two announcements of much importance to Alberta have been made this week. One is that the research department of the University of Alberta has found a process by which a large proportion of the sand in the Athabasca tar sands can be removed, thereby making them available for use as a commercial commodity for shipping and ready use for road making and other purposes. The other announcement is that American capital has been secured to open and develop the Butterfield iron ore deposit discovered about a year ago on the shores of Lake Athabasca. In the development of Northern Alberta both these matters are of great importance. If the tar sand products can be put on the market at a reasonable price, the field for their use is unlimited. If shipping, and that, paper, points out that "the work is illustrative of what an enlightened province can do in order to provide for the necessary medical and nursing needs of the people living in districts at great distances from the services which are afforded by towns and cities."

The School Fairs

Of the $50,000 people attending the past week has witnessed the holding of an annual school fair. This fine movement has the cooperation of the department of agriculture and the department of education, and is becoming a very pronounced feature of school and country life. This year the fairs have been very successful. The fair last week at Stangway school was honored by the attendance of Baron Hing, governor general of Canada, who was complimentary in his interest in the exhibits and in his remarks.

take impressions quickly and the wholesome educational exhibits produce cultural and useful results. More and more each year our larger exhibitions are recognizing the value of educating the boys and girls, and encouraging the competitors in live stock and other lines. The general work of the Alberta school fairs can hardly be overpraised for its practical usefulness and educational effects.

Municipal Hospitals

There seems to be no doubt that the "Municipal Hospitals" of Alberta will become permanent establishments in the life of the province. This action is from the Canadian Red Cross field for their use is unlimited. Glad To Get Home

Lucille fumed herself vigorously. "The heat is stifling," she thought. "How I wish I could be at home, with the wide, cool rooms, and the servants to wait on me. Here it is a never-ending round of cooking and dishes and taking care of Loretta. Mother writes that she misses me so much and that no one could take my place. Who would ever have dreamed that she would marry again when there are still two unmarried daughters. She certainly did well for herself." Her thoughts were on the wealthy, grey-haired man who had stepped into the place that had been vacant for so many years after her father's death. Presently the shrill whistle of the dumb waiter recalled her to her duties and she took the milk bottles out of the tiny refrigerator so there would be room for the ice.

During the succeeding days Lucille gave herself up unswayingly to self pity. It could do nothing to please her. If he brought home a box of luscious strawberries, thinking to tempt her appetite, she felt that it was a burden to pick them. If he suggested meeting him downtown for dinner to save cooking in the heat she complained of the trouble of taking the baby. She didn't want to stay home and she hated to go out.

"Really, Lucille, you are becoming a regular nagger," cried her husband, exasperated. "I work downtown in the heat all day and you are nearly always cross when I get home. Even Loretta is becoming fretful because your moods are so uncertain. Is there anything special that you want?"

Lucille's flashing black eyes swept the small apartment. "I want a change. I'm sick of being cooped up. I feel stifled. I thought married life would broaden me—that I would expand and feel the great emotions—but I feel as though a thousand cobwebs had me and prevented the free utterance of my—"

"Bah!" Ed's face, usually covered with a good humored smile, expressed disgust. The heat had sharpened and whitened him, and his eyes were heavy. "What you need is something to do. You are getting morbid. Why don't you take Loretta and go over to the lake afternoons and breathe the fresh air? With I could. Want to go home and visit?"

"Yes, can you afford a ticket?" she asked.

"Goodness, yes! Anything to get this look off your face!" Lucille treasured up his words angrily. "I have a great notion not to return. Mother would be only too delighted to have me home again, and she loves Loretta to death. I just shiver and pinch and he's never satisfied!" she thought.

And Ed was sitting on a high stool in a bakery kitchen, selecting the cheapest items on the bill to try and replace the cost of her railway ticket. "There was no one to meet Lucille at the station, and, feeling rather giddy, she took a taxi, excusing her extravagance because she hated to carry Loretta.

"Oh, hello!" Her mother kissed her rather absently. "You didn't wire your train, so I didn't send to meet you. Gerald has the car out, anyway. He is playing golf this morning. I suppose you'll want to lie down until luncheon. We have some guests coming in, so put on a smart frock. Be sure and don't let Loretta cry, as Gerald doesn't care for babies, and he will rest a little before dressing for luncheon. You are looking well, but your suit is impossible."

Feeling rather out of it, Lucille followed the maid, who had rather reluctantly taken Loretta up to her bedroom which was on the third floor. "Sorry to put you up there, but we have a house full," murmured her mother, entering, dressed for lunch. "But what are you going to do with Loretta while we eat?"

"I thought I'd bring her down to the table," faltered Loretta, who was plucking some gay little rusettes on the shoulders of Loretta's best white embroidered frock.

"No, Gerald wouldn't like it at all, better give Daisy the parlor maid, a good tip to stay up here. If you plan to stay long, you'd better get a maid to do the housework, and they hate babies." Mrs. Mainwaring picked up the dainty little girl and stood holding her with a far away look in her eyes, which seemed to have saddened since Lucille last saw her.

At luncheon Lucille sat next the handsome, rather successful master of the house, and she noticed that her younger sisters did not joke and laugh as they had been used to do. They said little and kept wary eyes on their grandfather, who was cordially back to the five guests, but who had a different cadence in his voice when he spoke to his wife or her daughters.

That evening Mr. Mainwaring took them all to a club dance, but Lucille did not enjoy it. Her thoughts returned to Ed in the lonely little flat and she wondered if Daisy would surely stay all the time with Loretta.

"The Greens are planning a camping trip. We are going to take a chef and divide the expense at the end of the trip." Mrs. Mainwaring, looking very tired, stood undressing her string of pearls before her daughter's glass.

"We are to start Monday. I don't want to go a bit. I detest camping parties, but Gerald will go, anyway, and that Mrs. Briggs is making a dead set at him. How I hate widows!" finished the older woman.

Lucille stared. Her self-control, good looking mother seemed to have changed greatly. "Why don't you tell him you don't want to go."

"You don't understand, dear. He's not like your father. He's accustomed to get his own way. He's very careful and not let Loretta cry and disturb him in the night. I think I can reserve a seat for you in the car for the trip, but of course you will have to leave Loretta here. For—"

Lucille stretched out her hand and touched the other's arm tenderly. "I am going home tomorrow. I couldn't pay my share of the expense, and wouldn't let you pay it. No," she said in reply to the words that trembled on her mother's lips, "that isn't the whole reason. I couldn't think of leaving Loretta in hired hands any way, but what you said about that designing widow frightened me. I've got Ed now, mother, and I intend to keep him. He's patience itself with all my whims. It does a girl good to get away and see other things. Try to come and visit me some time soon, won't you?"

"Did you have a good time, Lucille?" asked Ed rather wistfully when he took the crowling baby from her mother's arms at the station.

"Well, I learned a lot," she was enigmatical reply, "and one thing was—she smiled up at her tall husband—

"that I love you a lot more than I realized I did."

"And I was afraid you'd come home discontented with our little household," he said radiantly. "Let's hurry, Lucille. I got a brick of ice cream just before I left the flat; it's all ready in the ice box."

Stories of Famous People

If there were a republic in England tomorrow, the first president to be elected would be the King, the second would be the Prince of Wales, and would both be elected for life.

Meskeith Pearson, an English journalist, is sure of this.

One of the causes of the Prince's popularity is that he believes in and acts up to, the principles of equality. Nothing could have been easier than for him to have skirted the dangerous work in the end, he succeeded in getting up to the front only after a battle royal with the authorities.

Every device was tried to keep him out of the danger zone, but nothing could withstand the unassailable logic of the Prince's attitude, which was summed up by himself on one occasion in these words, "Just because I'm the son of my mother, is that any reason why I should be treated differently to any other mother's son."

It would be only to multiply instances of his lack of "snob" his sense of humor; but there is one incident which paints him to life.

During his military duties at the front, he made friends with a Junior subaltern in Kitchener's army. After the war he met this friend in the street, shook hands warmly with him, and said: "You must come down to Windsor and stay with my people." The friend, not associating at the moment such a homely expression as "my people" with the King and Queen readily accepted the invitation, and afterwards nearly died with fright when he realized what he had let himself in for.

However, he found out that "my people" could be just as homely and charming as anyone else's people, and from the moment he entered Windsor Castle he became one of a very simple and very delightful family circle.

CANADA TRADE FAIRLY BRISK DURING WEEK

Winnipeg, Sept. 23—The Canadian Credit Men's Trust association weekly report summarizes conditions as follows:

In Quebec the wholesale and manufacturing trades are gradually improving, while retail trade reports better sales. The exceptionally warm weather has somewhat affected fall buying. Collections are still slow.

Advices from Ontario indicate that the wholesale trade is holding up moderately well. Collections are, however, only fair.

In Manitoba, the wholesale hardware trade is quiet as is usually expected at this time of the year. Grain and shoe traders report orders coming in better than expected. Dry goods men report business good but the grocery lines are not quite so brisk this week. Retail business is still quiet. Collections quiet; no improvement expected for another ten days.

In Saskatchewan the wholesale trade is reported to be fair but slightly improved. The retail trade in the southern portion of Saskatchewan is still inclined to be slow, while in the northern part it is improving. Thrashing season pretty general and this is no doubt affecting collections, which are somewhat slow.

Wholesale trade in Alberta is moderate but retail business is rather quiet. Collections have hardly started.

British Columbia reports in general wholesale business is fair though dry goods are somewhat suffering from the recent dry spell. Boots and shoes and hardware business is good. Retail trade also shows a general improvement in most lines, but exceptionally fine weather has somewhat interfered with the sale of fall and winter commodities. Collections improving.

VERY CONSTIPATED FOR SIX MONTHS

Unless one has a free action of the bowels, at least once a day, constipation is sure to cause, then in the wake of the constipation comes sick headache, bilious headache, heartburn, coated tongue, foul breath, sour stomach, piles, and many forms of liver complaint.

Milburn's Lax-Liver Pills will regulate the flow of bile to and from the bowels, thus making them active and regular, and removing the constipation and all its allied troubles.

Mrs. R. C. Hunt, Port George, N. S. writes:—"I have been troubled by constipation for many months, and have been very badly constipated for some time. My tongue has been so terribly coated, so much so, that it made my breath foul. I was talking to a friend about it, and she advised me to use Milburn's Lax-Liver Pills, which I did, and now I am perfectly well. My tongue is as smooth as it was before I got that way and I owe it all to your pills of which I only used two sticks."

Price 25c. a vial at all druggists or direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

fruit growers of B.C. in their opposition to Americans making Canada a dumping ground for their surplus fruit. What the B.C. people want is protection, and they should have it. But if they have protection, would that it will mean matters until freight rates and other expenses are reduced. As an instance, tomatoes were quoted at 10c. a box, of four baskets to the case, at a little over forty cents last week at Vernon, and the selling price in Red Deer was forty-eight cents the basket, four times the

The banquet hall was adorned with many beautiful paintings, and the President of the little college was called upon to respond to a toast. Desiring to pay a compliment to the ladies present, he designated the paintings with an eloquent gesture and said:
"What need is there of these paintings of beauties when we have so many of them with us at the table?"

Railway News

Irish newspapers follow up the careers of Irishmen who leave the Green Isle. The Irish Independent had the following item a few days ago:

Sir Herbert Samuel Holt, of Montreal, whose eldest son, Capt. P. Holt, M.C., is to marry a daughter of the late Sir John G. Macdonald, and Mrs. G. L. Cairns, of Montreal, is a man of considerable standing in Canadian commercial circles. He is a banker and railway engineer, and has been President of the Royal Bank of Canada, is a director of the C.P.R.

He is an Irishman, being born in the Co. Kildare in 1856, the son of the late Mr. Gerran Holt, Capt. Holt was in the 3rd Dragoon Guards.

J. M. Gilmore, chief clerk in the C.P.R. general offices at Lethbridge, has been transferred to the same position in the superintendent's office at Medicine Hat. J. H. Fairley, chief clerk at Edmonton, has succeeded Mr. Gilmore at Lethbridge. The former is being replaced in Edmonton by S. G. C. Macmillan.

Mr. H. M. Gilmore was the first chief clerk in the Lethbridge division, having been placed here to open the office August 1, 1914. He has been with Supt. C. D. Macmillan since that date. He has always taken a keen interest in the activities of the C.P.R. Social and Athletic club.

No man in Canada has the reputation of equalling Geo. H. Han, of the Canadian Pacific Railway Co., as a raconteur and a wit. Sir Thomas White once called him "a great national asset."

Mr. Han added that he was glad that Sir Thomas had fortunately forgotten the "et." Even in the hospital undergoing an operation for appendicitis, Mr. Han maintained his reputation, as his best story, probably, will show.

When he lost consciousness, he says, his last thought was "This is eternity."

"When I recovered from the effects of the opiate, I found myself in a darkened room, and wondered where I was and what it was all about. The kindly-natured nurse quickly discovered that my consciousness had returned, and came to my bedside, and then I remembered everything. 'But, what is this dark room?' It was early morning when they operated on me, but now it can't be night."

"No, it isn't," she seriously responded, "but we were afraid of the shock you might get."

"Why, what shock?"
"Well, there was a big fire just across the street, and we were afraid if you awoke, and saw the flames, you might think that the operation hadn't been successful."

"That shows you what it is to have a reputation."

The Commercial Cable Company and C.P.R. Telegraphs have taken over the Postal Telegraph Service in Newfoundland and are now handling all business over the Newfoundland government's cables and land lines.

Whatever the volume of the coal and grain business this fall, the Canadian Pacific Railway is prepared to handle it. This was the assurance given by Grant Hall, vice-president of the company, at Calgary. Mr. Hall is on his annual tour. He is in a most hopeful mood regarding the crop situation in the three western provinces. Present prospects, he stated, were that there would be a fair average crop.

"No, I do not anticipate any complications arising on this side owing to the strike among United States shippers," he remarked in reply to a question. "There is no occasion to think this at the present time," he added.

TOWN TOPICS

Rev. W. H. Irwin expects to leave for Toronto next week to attend a meeting of the social service committee of the Methodist church.

The Ladies' Hospital Aid society will hold their regular meeting in the council chamber on Tuesday afternoon next, October 2nd, at four o'clock.

Mrs. J. I. Poole, who attended the convention of the W.C.T.U. in Calgary last week, was honored by being elected as the provincial treasurer.

It has been reported to The Times that the recent fire at Gallagher's store on the east side was not caused by defective electric wiring. The actual cause of the conflagration has not been determined.

But McGinnis left the city on Tuesday morning for Cranberry, B.C., where he expects to spend the winter in the logging camps. Fred Miller, Herbert Schmoor and Harry Peterson accompanied him.

Rev. George and Mrs. Sparling and family, missionaries to China, who are home on furlough, are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Switzer and Mrs. A. Dunlop, before returning to their labors in October.

Mrs. Olive Caldwell of Laverne, Sask., spent the weekend visiting her aunts, Miss Carrie Caldwell and Mrs. A. S. Craig. She is on her way to Edmonton South to attend the university for the coming term.

The University of Alberta opened for the fall term on Monday of this week. Among the Wetaskiwin students who will be attending this term are Misses Mae MacEachern and Frances Alexander, and Robert Alexander, Ed. Kadlec and E. Becknaght.

Knox church junior choir will have a table of plants for sale at the Willing Workers' tea, being held in Knox church school room on Friday of this week. This will be a good opportunity to secure a flowering plant at a reasonable price.

Remember the dance to be given in Angus Hall on Friday evening of this week, under the auspices of the Peace Hills Chapter, I.O.O.F. The proceeds will go to provide scholarships for school children and for hospital purposes. Lynch's orchestra.

Several members of the Settler council were in the city last week looking over the curling rink, and getting information which might be of use to them in the erection of a curling rink and skating rink there this fall. Among the party was Mr. W. W. Sharpe, a former citizen of Wetaskiwin, and who is an ex-mayor of that progressive town.

Mr. G. Ferguson came up from Los Angeles last week to look after his business interests in the district and to renew acquaintances. He is delighted with the weather we are now enjoying and his friends are of the opinion that it would not take very much inducement for him to move back to this country. His sons are conducting a tobacco store on one of the principal streets of Los Angeles, and are doing well.

The Wetaskiwin high school girls' basketball team went to Edmonton South on Saturday to play a return game with the team representing that place. The game was a very fast one and resulted in the defeat of the Wetaskiwin girls by the score of 29 to 15. We understand the defeat was attributed in some measure to the injury of a Wetaskiwin player, who was unable to continue the game after the injury.

Looking Backward

FROM THE TIMES' FILES

(September 25, 1922)

L. A. MacEachern had a photograph of his large wheat field north of town taken last week. It has a striking resemblance to the illustrations of Manitoba's wheat fields, which are Canada's best.

John Clegg's car load of settlers' effects being sent from Ontario on Thursday.

D. T. Lenoir this week purchased the flour and feed mill from Ernest Hedenstrom; Mr. Hedenstrom goes to Hornborg to engage in business.

A gang of auto crackers operated in the city Friday morning, and Constable Allen had to come in to assist. The safe in the Farmers' Store was blown to scrap iron, while the safe in Fowler & Co's. store was charged with nitroglycerine, and was ready to be set when the thieves were disturbed by the constable.

Wetaskiwin is likely to have another wholesale liquor store, as Martin Marker has leased one of the stores in the Krogman block, and has made application to the department for a license.

Threshing commenced this week in the district and the first grain was harvested this week, oats being worth 26c.

At a meeting of the council D. C. McLean was awarded the contract to supply the city with coal. It was also decided to purchase a new safe. The newly appointed mayor, Dr. H. C. R. ALBERTA'S WAY

I am the spirit of the far-flung west,
Who called to countless hearts
Across the sea.

"Come, seek me, heroes, onward to the quest!"
And here, and there, they heard and came to me.

Where countless buffalo had ranged the plain,
The prairie schooner bore her hidden hopes.

The swaying ocean passed the rail-bound train,
And North and Westward opened wider scope.

So under young Alberta's sunny sky,
I led them onward day by day
And weak ones on my virgin breast
Did die.

I brought them and I taught them
In my way.
With Spring I sang them songs of new-born love,
The snow swift streaming to the distant sea.

The grain looped upward the black loam above
When summer warmed the melting heart of me;
But when the Fall had greyed the much-indebted fur to snow
And painted myriad colors leaf and sky

The winter wind grew grim and cutting keen,
